Eight Independents qualify

Haskins challenges Sills, Perniciaro faces Wyatt

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The Nov. 6 General Election drew three more Independent candidates Friday, the last day to qualify.

Thad Haskins, Hancock North Central principal, filed as an Independent candidate for the office of County school superintendent to end many days of speculation about who might enter that race. Democratic nominee Billy Sills, North Bay Elementary principal, defeated the incumbent Ferrel (Terry) Randolph by 15 votes in a recount, after the unofficial returns showed Sills leading by two votes.

Haskins resides in the Standard Community.

Cleveland Wyatt, Kiln, filed with Henry Otis, Circuit clerk, as an Independent against Democratic incumbent Sam Perniciaro, for supervisor of District Four.

Perniciaro defeated two candidates in the Democratic First Primary to represent his party for the second time.

The Democratic nominee for the much-sought-after post of Justice Court judge, District Four, Waveland auto dealer Bruce Necaise who was selected in a run-off over G.K. (Jerry) Seuzeneau, faces Independent opposition from Sidney Sandow of Bay St. Louis.

Roger Dale Ladner, Democratic nominee, will face Tommy Shaw, Crane Creek resident and Independent, for the office of supervisor of District Three. Ladner defeated the incumbent Oscar Peterson in the Democratic run-off election Aug. 28.

Bert Courge, a Democratic nominee in the first primary who won a slim majority over three opponents for supervisor of District One, has Robert B. Peterson of Ocean Springs running against him as an Independent.

Courge is seeking his second term as supervisor, himself winning as an Independent candidate four years ago. Lee Klein, Justice Court judge, District One, unopposed in the Democratic election, faces Independent Thomas L. (Tommy) Carver, Lakeshore, in the general election.

Phillip Malley, constable, District Three, will contend with two Independents trying to unseat him. Malley was also unopposed in the Democratic primary.

Rennon E. Shaw and Wayne (Dooley) Necaise, both of the Crane Creek Community, are running as Independents against Malley.

The Hancock County Election Commissioners will meet next week, according to the Circuit clerk, to check the number of qualified voters signing the petitions of the Independent candidates, and to certify those qualified to run.

A total of 50 qualified electors must sign a petition for an Independent candidate to run.

On the local scene three Democratic nominees face Republican candidates.

Democrat Martin Smith, senator of District 47, faces Republican Julian Wright. Smith seeks his fourth term representing Hancock and Pearl River Counties.

J.P. Compretta, Democrat, unopposed in his bid for a second term as Representative for Hancock County, draws opposition from Republican Karl Goss.

Democratic nominee Ronald (Ronnie) Peterson will face Republican McCormick Wheeler. Peterson, chief deputy sheriff, won the democratic nomination in his first bid for public office.

STATE WIDE CANDIDATES
Governor-Democrat William Winter and Republican Gil Carnichael. Secretary of State-Democrat Ed Pittman and Republican Jeff East. Attorney General-Democrat Bill Allian and Republican Charles Pickering.

Insurance Commissioner-Democrat incumbent George Dale and Republican Conner Fulton.

Highway Commissioner-South-Democrat Robert Joiner and Independents Joe Stone, F. Joe Speights, J.W. McLaughlin, Hiram Berry Smith and Thomas Herbert Moody.

Public Service Commissioner-Democrat Lynn Havens, Republican Lynn Knight and Independents Ayres Haxton and Sylvia Dethlefs.

The win ended a nine-game losing streak for the Bay High eleven carried over from last year. The game Friday was the first of the season for the Bay High squad, and was Smith's maiden game as head coach of the team. (Staff photo by Randy Ponder)

FCC examining sale of WXGR

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

An agreement has been made by Sledge automobile dealership owner Bill Garret to sell Bay St. Louis radio station WXGR to preacher-businessman and Pass Christian native Don Manuel of Brookhaven, Miss.

The agreement has been written up and what remains before consummation of the sale is approval by the Federal Communications Commission, said Garret who has owned the radio station for some six years.

Manuel presently owns one radio station in Port Gibson, Miss., and is awaiting sanction from the FCC on the purchase of two other radio stations in addition to the one in Bay St. Louis.

Also owner of McComb Equipment Co., Manuel says change in ownership would not change the radio station

"significantly."

"The format will be basically the same, country-western," said Manuel. "I plan to make the station more community involved, I intend for the station to become more involved in news gathering," he added.

Both Garret and Manuel said FCC approval usually takes from about three to six months, with three months being the average amount of time.

Manuel says he is a preacher at Mt. Zion Church in Lincoln County.

"Hancock County is destined to become one of the fastest growing counties in the State," Manuel exclaimed.

Manuel declined to disclose the amount he was paying to purchase the station.

Randolph proposes new school

By RICH ADAMS

Hancock County School Superintendent Terry Randolph Saturday morning proposed to the school board that a 20 classroom South Central High School on U.S. 90 be constructed using surplus funds.

The superintendent recommended the school, which he says would contain 20 classrooms, a cafeteria, and administrative offices, be constructed without a bond issue.

The proposal was made during discussion of installing air conditioning in cafeterias at Charles B. Murphy and Gulfview Elementary Schools at a cost of $43,404.

Board Member Oris Ladner moved that the air conditioning be installed at the two elementary schools, and Board Member Louie Ladner had seconded the motion.

When Board President Woodrow Ladner opened the issue for discussion, Board Member Johnny Banks opposed the expenditure of $43,404 for air conditioning.

"Classrooms are more important than air conditioning," Banks said. Randolph then made his proposal concerning a new high school.

"I suggest we use surplus money and build 20 classrooms, a cafeteria, and administrative offices on Highway 90 without a bond issue," the superintendent said.

Hancock man charged with child molesting

By RICH ADAMS

A Hancock County man is being held in the County Jail without bail on child molesting charges pending psychological testing at Whitfield Mental Hospital, according to Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr.

The suspect, whom the sheriff would not identify until after the tests have been completed, was arrested Thursday after the sheriff received a complaint from a resident living near the man's home, Ladner reported.

Ladner said the man allegedly lured teen-aged girls into his home where he "committed acts with them and slept with them."

"When we picked him up, he denied the allegations," Ladner said Friday.

"Then, after a while, he said maybe, and he finally said he had done it," the sheriff continued.

"We are sending him to Whitfield for mental testing, so I cannot release his name yet," he added.

Ladner said he has charged the suspect with molesting instead of fondling, due to a precedent recently established by the Mississippi Supreme Court which ruled the fondling law unconstitutional because it was discriminatory against males.

In the most recent case concerning a fondling charge, the Supreme Court Thursday overturned the fondling conviction of Cornelius Catchot of Harrison County.

The high court, however, ordered that Catchot be held over for further MOLESTING-Page 2A

OBITUARIES

LEO McNALLY SR.

Visitation for Leo F. McNally was Friday night at Rismann Funeral Home in Gulfport, where a rosary was recited.

The funeral procession left the funeral home at 12:45 p.m. Saturday and went to St. Theresa Catholic Church in Gulfport, where religious services were conducted at 1 p.m. Burial was in Evergreen Gardens Cemetery at Gulfport.

Mr. McNally, 61, a retired electrical engineer with General Electric and a resident of 605 Camp Ave., Gulfport, died Wednesday, Sept. 6, 1979, in McHenry.

He was born in Belfast, Ireland and was a veteran of World War II, serving in the Air Force.

He was a member of St. Theresa Catholic Church, the Disable American Veterans Post 5, Gulfport American Legion, Joseph Graham Post No. 119, Gulfport Veterans of Foreign Wars, Alfred Allemen Post No. 2539 in Gulfport, the National Rifle Association and the National Advisory Board of American Security Council.

Mr. McNally wrote many letters to the editor which were published in the Sea Coast Echo and local newspapers.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Constance "Connie" McNally of Gulfport; four sons, Stephen M. McNally of Gulfport, John J. McNally, a student of Mississippi State University, Leo F. McNally Jr. and Eugene B. McNally, both students at the University of Mississippi; a daughter, Elaine M. McNally of Tacoma, Wash.; a brother, Father Kevin B. McNally of Columbia House, Los Angeles, Calif.; and four sisters, Mrs. Irene O'Farrell of Riverdale, Calif., Sister Maureen McNally, Sister of St. Louis, Woodland Hills, Calif., Sister Kathleen McNally, Sister of St. Louis, County Monaghan, Eire, Ireland, and Sister Helen Eucome McNally, Sister of St. Joseph, Schenectady, N.Y.

EDWARD POLLION SR.

The funeral for Edward George Pollion Sr. was Friday at 10 a.m. at Edmond Fahy Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis. Burial was in the Garden of Memories Cemetery in Bay St. Louis.

Mr. Pollion, 52, an accountant with Southern Baptist Hospital in New Orleans and a resident of Seaford Trailer Park, Bay St. Louis, died Wednesday, Sept. 5, 1979.

Born in Bay St. Louis, he moved to New Orleans at the age of 7, and he returned to Bay St. Louis two and a half years ago.

He was a Catholic.

Mr. Pollion is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Batey Pollion; a son, Edward George Pollion Jr., both of Bay St. Louis; two daughters, Mrs. Brenda Schulz of Meroux, La., and Mrs. Sharon Savin of Harahan, La.; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Barham of Florida, and Mrs. Beatrice Revenawick of New Orleans; and four grandchildren.

RANDOLPH STIGLET

Randolph Stiglet, 67, Pass Christian, an electrician and a resident of 406 Clark St., died Thursday, Sept. 6, 1979 at 5:37 p.m. in the emergency room of Memorial Hospital at Gulfport.

Mr. Stiglet, born March 18, 1912, in Hancock County, was a lifelong resident of the Coast.

He had been employed with Robert Allen of Pass Christian and was a member of St. Paul's Catholic Church. He is survived by one son, Patrick Stiglet, Pass Christian; four daughters, Mrs. Freddie (Dorothy) Scarborough and Mrs. Donald (Barbara) Conn, Pass Christian, Mrs. Austin (Mildred) Ladner, Liana Community, and Mrs. Coy (Patricia) Grantham Jr., Hamilton, Ga.; one brother, John Stiglet, Bay St. Louis; one sister, Mrs. Irene Ladner, Pass Christian; 12 grandchildren; and one great-grandson.

Friends called Saturday at Rismann Funeral Home Chapel in Pass Christian.

The funeral is to be held Sunday afternoon, the time to be set, in St. Paul's Catholic Church with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James McGough officiating.

Burial will be in the St. Joseph Cemetery at Rotten Bayou.

MRS. AMY STOCKSTILL

Mrs. Amy Stockstill, 73, formerly of Biloxi and a resident of Bay St. Louis, died Wednesday, Sept. 5, 1979.

The body was sent from Bradford O'Keefe Funeral Home in Biloxi to the Brown Funeral Home in Bogalusa, La., for services.

Burial was in the Noble Cemetery at Bogalusa.

Mrs. Stockstill, a Coast resident for 27 years, was born in Carrier, La.

She is survived by two sons, James Carrier of Bogalusa and Paul Ray Stockstill of Biloxi; two daughters, Mrs. Louise Stencil of Biloxi and Mrs. Barbara Jo Smith of Bay St. Louis; a sister, Mrs. Eloise Pittman of Lyman; 20 grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

New school.....

Oris and Louie Ladner asked if the superintendent could produce plans and specifications for the proposed school. Randolph said he could, and the two board members withdrew their motion and second, asking Randolph to produce the plans.

Following the meeting, Randolph would not comment further on what he plans to build with the surplus money, nor would he say how much money the system has in surplus from 16th Section land oil leases.

"I have no comment at this time. I will release this information in the next couple of weeks," Randolph said Saturday.

The system was estimated to have some $11,000 in surplus funds during the summer, but some of that has been used for renovations at Gulfview Elementary and for re-roofing Hancock North Central.

Also at Saturday's meeting, the school board appointed Charles Lyle as temporary athletic director for the system.

The action came following a letter from HNC girl's basketball coach Charlie Jacobs asking why no head coaches were assigned for Spring sports such as track and baseball.

Woodrow Ladner also read a letter from HNC Principal Thad Haskins requesting the board appoint an athletic director to oversee the athletic program at the school.

Randolph said the position will solve problems caused by an earlier adopted board policy which establishes head coaching positions.

Haskins said Lyle will be a temporary athletic director until a full time director is appointed by the board.

On a motion by Louie Ladner, seconded by Banks, formation of the position was approved with Lyle as temporary director.

Oris Ladner voted against Lyle's appointment.

Head Basketball Coach Roland Ladner asked if experience and seniority will be considered in permanent appointment of the athletic director.

Woodrow Ladner said that will be taken into consideration in selecting the athletic director.

Also at the meeting, the board received a reply from Attorney General A.F. Sumner concerning removal of sod from 16th Section Land.

The board had requested a ruling from the attorney general to determine if removal of sod from the land is attorney general ruled. The board requested 16th Section Land Supervisor Mike Necaise investigate the matter and present a report at the next school board meeting.

Also at Saturday's meeting, the board discussed cutting back school field trips due to an allocation of gasoline 15 percent less than last year.

Randolph said the state has cut back the fuel allocation, and some field trips as well as athletic trips will be cut back.

Woodrow Ladner said sites in Mississippi within 30 to 35 miles of Hancock County are feasible for field trips.

Teachers said text books recommend trips to the zoo, and pointed out Audubon Park in Louisiana was the best zoo in the area.

The board president decided to leave the matter to school administration. "We will throw this matter back into the laps of the school principals, and let them decide what is educational and what is not," Woodrow Ladner said.

Also at the meeting, the board raised the price of school lunches for students from 50 cents to 60 cents and for adults from 75 cents to 85 cents.

Woodrow Ladner said the raise is the result of a State Department of Education decision, and added, "You can't fight City Hall."

The board also took under advisement a recommendation from Randolph to hire Ula Mae Osborn as cafeteria supervisor.

Randolph said Osborn agreed to take the position of cafeteria supervisor despite a reduction of $2,000 for that position.

"I cannot get qualified personnel for that salary," the superintendent told the board.

Oris Ladner recommended the board take the matter under advisement until a full board is present. Board Member Manuel Cuevas was not at Saturday's meeting.

grand jury action on a charge of attempted rape.

The 1921 fondling statute recently voided by the court states: "...any male person above the age 18 years, who for the purpose of gratifying his lust, or indulging his depraved licentious sexual desires, shall handle, touch or rub with hands or any part of his body, or any member thereof, any child under the age of 14 years, with or without his consent, shall be guilty of a high crime..."

The court's action Thursday was the second time a fondling charge had been overruled since the statute was declared unconstitutional.

"If we charged him with fondling, he would have to be released," Ladner said Friday in connection with the Hancock County case.

Dputies Delbert Seay and Alvin Ladner are investigating the local incident.

Bay youth arrested

By RICH ADAMS

A 20-year-old Bay St. Louis man was arrested Thursday night on charges of damaging private property and public drunk after he allegedly broke a window at Dr. Joseph Lee's office on the intersection of Second Street and DeMontbain Avenue.

Bay St. Louis Police Chief Douglas Williams said two of his units and one Waveland unit responded to an anonymous phone call at 8:25 p.m. stating that a window had been broken at the doctor's office.

When police arrived they discovered Edward Soffra, 20, 307 Ullman Ave., running from the doctor's office with a large knife in his hand, the chief reported.

The lawmen found a broken window on the west side of the building, and arrested Soffra on charges of damaging private property and public drunk.

Williams added.

Soffra was lodged in the Hancock County Jail under a $10,000 bond, but was released by Friday morning, the chief reported.

Officers responding to the call were Assistant Chief Frank Hess, Patrolmen Larry Ladner and Daniel Palsance, and a Waveland Police Department unit, Williams added.

HNC coach clarifies statements

By RICH ADAMS

A Hancock North Central basketball coach whom the Hancock County School Board refused to hear at a board meeting Tuesday night said Saturday he did not plan on discussing athletic equipment as reported in Thursday's edition of the Sea Coast Echo.

Coach Charlie Jacobs said Saturday he had planned to talk about "hearsay" which had been circulating around the school.

"I only wanted to discuss this hearsay: I did not want to say anything about school athletic equipment," Jacobs said.

Jacobs was quoted as saying "I would like to discuss school and athletics in general, primarily hand me downs..." before he was cut off by Board President Woodrow Ladner at the Tuesday meeting.

Jacobs said he did not say anything about equipment, but added he may have been about to say "hand me down information."

"Equipment was not even on my mind," he stated.

Above average rains expected this month

Above normal rainfall in Mississippi will probably continue through September, according to the National Weather Service Outlook distributed by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Many stations have already reported near-record amounts for the year, say agrometeorologists at the Environmental Studies Service Center in Stoneville who prepare the forecasts. Many producers are going into the month with good soil moisture reserves.

Soybeans are in good condition and filling well. Some of the early planted beans are turning. Weather for harvesting beans should not be a problem in September because of drying of fields is still rapid in September.

Cotton producers are trying to control insects. The crop is behind schedule, and chances are slim that it will catch up. The temperature outlook for September through November indicates below-normal temperatures. Late bolls may not make it, says weather experts.

Rice harvest will be spread out because of the variable planting dates. Even with more rain than usual, rice producers should have little trouble getting through fields. The threat of high winds from tropical storms and thunderstorms still remains.

Pastures are in good condition on most Mississippi farms, and some will get extra cutting of hay. Some ryegrass will be seeded and get off to a good start with the weather in store. Poultrymen may get a few more stress days, but problems should taper off.

VA begins in-depth Viet vet poll

The Veterans Administration recently commissioned an in-depth survey designed to aid the federal government in making policy decisions relating to veterans of the Vietnam Era.

Pollster Louis Harris and Associates was awarded the $485,000 contract for a survey of public attitudes toward the veterans of America's longest armed conflict.

The comprehensive survey is designed to obtain up-to-date factual information about the public's attitudes toward Vietnam Era veterans and to provide information which will aid the government in forming policy relating to Vietnam Era veterans. The new effort will consist of an advance survey which is intended to provide a relatively brief, general overview of the public's attitudes toward Vietnam Era veterans. This survey is to be completed by October 1.

A second, more comprehensive and lengthy survey will measure the attitudes of four specific groups: Vietnam Era veterans themselves, employers, educators and the general public. The results of this survey are due in one year.

VA chief Max Cleland said today that employers and educators will be polled because these groups have had substantial contact with Vietnam Era veterans which should provide special insight into the problems of veterans.

The survey of the veterans themselves will provide information on the way they characterize themselves and their problems, and their perception of the obligation owed them by the country, he said.

Brothers find 186 four-leaf clovers

If you've always wanted to break a world's record, here's one to try your luck at: Find more than 186 four-leaf clovers in only ten minutes.

That's the record set by Rob and Tom Culp, aged 11 and 9, of Denver, Col., according to the current issue of Ranger Rick's Nature Magazine for children.

The two readers of the National Wildlife Federation's children's monthly stumbled upon a whole patch of four-leaf clovers at the Hugh M. Danahy city park on North Glenn, Col.

The Culp brothers have notified the Guinness Book of World Records of their astonishing find and hope their record will be made "official" by that British publication.

It is unusual but not unheard-of for four-leaf clovers to grow in clumps, according to Ranger Rick's magazine. No one knows for sure why some normal three-leafed clover plants grow four leaves. But some scientists speculate that poor, dry soil, too much shade, or cold nights in spring may produce the four-leafed variety.

Of the 300 kinds of clover in the world, the common white clover is the most frequent producer of four-leaf plants, says Ranger Rick. It was in a white clover patch that the Culp made their find.

How did the idea originate that good fortune befalls the finder of a four-leaf clover? The Culp brothers don't know, but figure that if there is any truth to the rumor, they're in for a lifetime of good luck.

Local boxing club registers fist KO

The Bay-Kin-Waveland Boxing Club traveled to Mississippi City last Saturday and 18-year-old Scott Colson of Bay St. Louis recorded his first knockout in the early part of the second round of his amateur fight.

Colson, a construction worker and native of Bay St. Louis, went Scott Jones of Ocean Springs to the canvas only three seconds into the second round, according to Head Boxing Coach John Whisenant.

It was a good knockout. He was down for five minutes, Whisenant said. Colson's father was a boxer, and he has been training for about two years, Whisenant reported.

Colson was a state champion and won two gold medals in the Junior Olympics. "Joe just about knocked him out in the first round," Whisenant said.

"This bout was his best fight yet," the coach continued. "In three weeks he will fight a man from the Delta Boxing Club who participated in the Spartacade," Whisenant added.

Todd Rocks, a 12-year-old pugilist from Kin also lost a split decision to Jeffrey Colson.

Nicky Slade, promising boxer who fought twice in the third round last week, was knocked out by a two-point decision to Jeffery Colson.

Whisenant said that a week ago Colson and Jeffery Colson were in a boxing gym in Ocean Springs, Miss. They were training for the Spartacade.

Editorial

Many of us need an education

Judging by the recent performance by the qualified electors of Hancock County, (and indications are throughout Mississippi) there is need for a crash course on the subject of how to mark one's ballot.

Having voted over the years numerous times, the only things I have ever been asked by the election managers was my name and then sign the book. We were given a ballot and headed in the direction of a voting booth. After we voted we were then told to fold the ballot so the precinct shows and put it in a certain box.

Now in review of a set of instructions which is reportedly mailed to each election manager, as well as one placed into each ballot box states that there should be a 'pen or indelible pencil' in each booth.

We received several telephone calls from voters, after we had a story of over 100 votes thrown out because of the use of a pencil marking the ballots in the Edwardsville box.

The indications we receive is that someone was not doing his duty at the polling place by leaving a pencil available for the voters to use rather than a pen or indelible pencil.

There were some other boxes where pencils were available, but we do not know if they were of the indelible type or not, but several other votes were not counted because of being marked by a lead pencil.

There was also several votes not counted because of the use of red, green or brown ink. Others were not counted because the mark for one candidate carried over to the box of the other candidate.

Some people even used circles, all types of markings instead of the check or (x) mark which is the proper way to vote on paper ballots.

A pink card entitled 'Card of Instruction' which is to be posted on the entrance door to each voting precinct as well as each voting booth tells a person the check or (x) or (xx) is the proper way to cast a ballot.

Once you start with the check or (x) you must use the same marking throughout for the votes to count.

As evidenced in many races every vote counts, but how much is it worth if it is thrown out because of improper markings.

We are really causing a disservice to our County when we do not mark our ballots properly, because each ballot has to be checked and then again discussed if something is out of the ordinary.

An ample supply of pens are placed in each box when the election managers receive them, now we realize there will probably be someone who will walk off with the pens, so other problems arrive.

We contend that really it is unfair for us to criticize any one person or group of persons because it seems there were several goofs made by people running the polls, election commissioners and most important the qualified electors.

We hope that by the time the next election rolls around, the mistakes made during the Democratic primary run-off will not be made again.

Our votes are too precious for us to sit back and let them be thrown out because of not being properly marked.

It could be that maybe we need a course on how to vote on paper ballots in our classrooms as a regular required subject, and hope that those of us out of school will try to seek guidance if we really don't know how to mark a ballot properly.

MEC News

A NEW COURSE OF ACTION

The free enterprise system has survived in this country for over 200 years and has provided present-day Americans with the highest standard of living civilization has known. But our system has lost some of its freedom.

Free enterprise is entangled in a web of regulations and is suffering from other factors such as the energy crisis, all feeding the upward spiral of inflation.

At the present rate, suggests the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, an average home may cost $151,000 by 1990, a gallon of gas $5.50, and a new automobile more than $12,000.

Part of the problem, the Chamber contends, is the government's excessive and unproductive regulation of the economy. The Chamber's Economic Council has embarked on a course of action which will help free Mississippians from that lack of understanding now and in years to come.

MEC's two new programs - the M.B. Swayze FOUNDATION AND THE American Enterprise Center, which will be funded by the Foundation - have been described as a giant forward in economic education in the state.

When completely in operation, the American Enterprise Center will serve the people of Mississippi in four important ways:

1. It will provide resources such as books, films and video tapes on economic education to schools, civic groups and the business community.

2. It will promote American enterprise through the mass media and other means.

3. It will provide consultation to teachers, business people and other citizens on economic education, and 4. It will provide a forum for the exchange of ideas on economic education.

Health Tip

From the American Medical Association

Treatment Eases Pain Of Crippling Arthritis

Arthritis is a general word that includes several different but related illnesses. It comes from "arthros," meaning joint, and "itis," meaning inflammation.

The American Medical Association reminds that the most common forms are rheumatoid arthritis and osteoarthritis. They are different ailments, but each produces painful, deformed joints.

Rheumatoid arthritis is a disease of the whole body. Three times more common in women than in men, it usually begins between the years of 20 and 35. Early symptoms may include weakness, fever, loss of appetite and loss of weight. The skin, especially the hands, may be cold and clammy. Mental depression is common, and the patient both feels and looks below par. One or more joints become inflamed and swollen.

An attack may begin with a gradually increasing discomfort, or a sudden, dramatic, confining illness, or anything in between. Attacks may come and go for no apparent reason.

Treatment reduces the pain of an acute attack and usually increases the range of motion. But treatment does not cure. There is no cure. Often an attack of pain in the joint will subside by itself. It usually returns. The quick capitalizes on this tendency of the disease to fluctuate. He claims credit for the treatment being used at the time of natural remission.

Osteoarthritis is a quieter, less dramatic illness. However, when it does develop in a joint it is less likely to go away. Eventually the joint is injured, the smooth lining membrane and the cartilage pads are damaged and permanent changes within the joint limit its motion and make any motion painful.

Everyone will develop osteoarthritis if he or she lives long enough. It begins in middle age, usually in a finger, knee, shoulder or hip. Often it is first noticed after an injury to a joint.

Management of arthritis involves a combination of supervision over a lifetime and a program of exercise, physical therapy, and, if necessary, medication. Weight control may be necessary. An arthritis program can be developed with your doctor's help.

Education needed to stop wasted ballots

September 7, 1979

Dear Sir:

I am sure as of Thursday, August 30th 1979 that our Election Commissioners know that classes or workshops are very much needed to train precinct managers on how to better inform voters how to mark their ballots properly and what is the proper writing instrument and also inform the managers that tally sheets are to be placed in each box after they are counted.

It would be very helpful if large posters in clear print and full view of the public would be at each voting area to show the voter how to mark his ballot properly - to let him or her know that if a ballot is messed up it is also can ask for another one or that you do not black out the area to be marked.

All these errors make a big difference as to whether a vote counts or not and these errors can win or lose an election. Workshop instruction classes or voting machines, what ever would be the cheapest, would help greatly to put a stop to wasted votes.

Thanking you in advance,
Gerry Ling

Seeking help on Jourdan River alligators

Dear Editor and Readers:

How do alligators grab you?

I lost a 150 pound Great Dane to an alligator on the bank of the Jourdan River, 1/4 mile east of McLeod Park.

Will the next fatality be someone's loved pet - or maybe their child?

In Florida it took the tragic loss of a young child's leg to cause a change in the attitude of the people. Are we going to wait that long?

If your concerns are the same as mine, please contact me. I need more local information regarding the Jourdan River or its tributaries as the United Fish and Game agent will be in this area collecting facts on our problem here.

Please help and call 255-9327.
Ask for Chris or Ford.

Thank you,
Chris Tina Carrigan

Explorers 'weak link' in school chain of command

To the Editor,
Sea Coast Echo:

I have followed with great interest events as reported in your newspaper pertaining to the lawsuit recently filed by the Parent-Teacher Organization at North Bay Elementary and the Bay St. Louis Federation of Teachers against the Bay St. Louis School Board and Superintendent of Education.

I say "with great interest" because I can remember back some 26 years ago when I too was a PTA mother. I watched some of these very same young mothers of today grow up with my children in this school system. Now, it is their turn to face issues. And they are facing them very well, I might add.

In the Sunday, September 2, edition of the Echo, there appeared a news story about a School Board meeting that was cancelled by the board without notice to the press and the public.

As quoted by School Board Trustee James Gunn in this article was, "I think it was good sense on behalf of the board to cancel the meeting. We are being sued because of special meetings." It would be difficult to tell if Mr. Gunn was misquoted or if simply misinformed.

As I read the complaint of the PTO and the AFT that was published in the August 16 edition of the Echo, this Board is not being sued for "special" meetings. It is being sued for "secret" meetings.

Any logical citizen would applaud a Board that would give extra time and hold special meetings, provided they are not held in secret. This is the whole point - is this board going to execute the business of this school system in a "special" way or in a "secret" way?

And they prove the point again with no notification on Aug. 30.

To top it off, their reason for cancelling the meeting is because they can't talk to anyone about the lawsuit. Is there no other business to discuss in this school system?

Perhaps if they were more willing to communicate with the public they would not be involved in a lawsuit at all. It's the old "catch" again.

I felt it equally as interesting that all board members quoted in the news story felt that some notice should have been made or were at least unaware that no notice was given, especially in view of the fact that the meeting was cancelled 10 days in advance.

However, none seemed to know or at least didn't say who should have notified the press and public. Is this another example of their infamous "chain of command"?

If so, let me leave you with one of my favorite old adages - A chain is only as strong as its weakest link!

Sincerely,
Arline Hale

Benigno shines

Tigers trounce Tomcats to win opener

By RANDY PONDER

Bay High's Tigers scored with barely more than one minute remaining in the fourth quarter to defeat the Stone County Tomcats in a rousing come-from-behind victory in Perkinston Friday night.

With the Tigers trailing 10-7, Quarterback Chuck Benigno raced 6.5 yards around the right end for the winning touchdown.

The play capped an 80 yard drive by the tigers, the longest of the game by either team.

After the game, Tiger Coach James (Snuffy) Smith commented, "We have a team that believes they can win. When everyone feels that way, anything is possible. We proved that tonight."

Bay High received to start game and promptly spotted Stone County three points.

Allen Proulx took the kick and returned to the 31. On the first play from scrimmage the Tomcats fumbled giving the tigers great field position.

The Bay High defense held tough and Stone had to settle for a 25-yard field goal with 7:27 remaining in the first quarter.

On the ensuing kick, the Tiger offense came to life and moved steadily down field.

Allen Proulx returned the kick to the Bay High 46.

Eight plays later, Chuck Benigno on a quarterback keep scored from the 14.

The PAT by Joe Cabanis split the uprights and the surprising Tigers led 7-3 with 3:30 left in the first period.

After an exchange of punts, the first quarter ended with the tigers leading 7-3.

Early in the second period, Bay High stopped a Stone County drive with a fumble recovery on their own 26.

Several plays later, however, the tigers gave the ball back with a turnover on the 40 yard line.

This time the Tomcats took full advantage of the opportunity and took the lead in the game.

Daniel Harris, no. 40 of the Tomcats, ran through the left side of the Tiger defense to get his touchdown from five yards out.

The PAT was good, and with 3:47 left in the half, Stone County led 10-7.

On their next possession, with the help of a couple of penalties, Bay High moved the ball to the Stone 57.

With time running out in the half, the tigers attempted a 50-yard field goal which fell just short by about 20 yards.

At halftime Stone owned the lead 10-7.

Stone took the kick to open the second half and marched the ball to what seemed to be an unstoppable drive, down to the Tiger 4.

Jimmy Sones, Tiger tackle, came up with the big play when he recovered a Stone fumble on the 35.

Bay High moved out to the 48, but could go no further as the Stone defense tightened up.

Joe Cabanis set up to punt and sent the ball 60 yards down field into the Tomcat end zone.

The third quarter ended with neither team getting on the score board.

Late in the final period, the tigers started their game-winning touchdown drive from the Bay 20 yard line, following a Stone punt.

With the ball on the BHS 42, the Tigers faced a fourth and 1.

Timeout Bay High with 4:17 on the clock.

The Tigers lined up in punt formation when play resumed. Everyone in the stadium expected a fake, but it still worked.

With first and ten Bay on the 45, Van Fayard got five with a pitchout.

Facing second and five on the 50, Allen Proulx ran for 15 more before he was stopped.

Stone was guilty of a face mask infraction which moved the ball to the Stone 18.

Fayard ran for eight more yards, giving the Tigers second and 2.

Bruce Cain shot up the middle for 1.5 to set up a third and inches.

Chuck Benigno got the first on a keeper, and on the next play, went in for the score.

Joe Cabanis PAT was good and the good guys led 14-10 with 1:13 left in the game.

Stone still had an opportunity to win the game when a penalty during the punt returned the ball on the Tiger 35.

The Tomcats advanced to the 26 before Chuck Benigno intercepted a Roger Taylor pass in the end zone.

The Stone County team had no more time but, and the game ended with a stunning win for Bay High, 14-10.

Coach "Snuffy" Smith contributed the win to team determination.

"We had nine players who were in the game almost every minute on both offense and defense," he said.

"It took mind over body to stay out there four quarters and pull this game out. The team played their hearts out," the coach added.

"One of the most important things is that we came through the game injury free," continued Smith.

"We were very pleased by the good turn out of Tiger fans. It's important to the players to know the people care enough to come and support the team," Smith stated.

The Tigers appear to be a much improved football team. The kicking game was good.

The running game was good. The defense was outstanding in this opening game.

The offensive line did a great job.

Their passing game is another matter. Of the three passes thrown, only one was caught and that by a Tomcat.

The Tigers next opponent is East-Central Friday night in Bay St. Louis. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Bulldogs—13, Pirates—8

Vancleave surprises Pass

By EDGAR PEREZ

The long-suffering Vancleave Bulldogs, who hadn't beaten Pass Christian in five years and weren't expected to set any precedents Friday night, unveiled a devastating ground game and a bruising defense against the Pirates.

In the first Pearl River Conference game of the season for both teams and season debut for the Dogs, they bulldozed through the Pirate defenses for some 224 yards rushing.

Pass could only move the ball some 67 yards all night over the slippery turf of Vancleave Stadium in a valiant but vain effort to top Vancleave's 13 points posted in the first half.

Pirate defenses held admirably against the hard-charging Bulldogs in the second half when no more numbers were posted by the hosts.

The Pirate offense appeared to come into its own in the early minutes of the third quarter when Tailback Gene Lang finally got loose after half a night trying to score for Pass.

Lang went in from about his own 20, and the Pirates lined up to kick an extra point, a surprise move after Head Coach Bob Lumpkin said last week he didn't have a kicker.

Ironically, a high pass from center sent Quarterback C. H. Jones scrambling back to the 20 yard line, seconding the ball and thirding the yard line to kick off the game.

The coach said both players should be back in the lineup for the Pirates' next contest, and we suffered a lot of bumps limited to the earlier scored 13 points for the rest of the muggy evening.

Friday, Sept. 21.

"Although they are bigger than we expected, the Bulldogs didn't surprise me,"

Lumpkin said even though sports writers across the Gulf

Coast had picked Pass to win this one.

"They're always tough, and it looks like this year they have been highly underrated," he added.

"We were able to move the ball against them, when we had it, that is," Lumpkin

play Saturday.

"We allowed them to dominate ball control and you can't win when they have the ball," he elaborated.

"They just seemed to want it more than we did in that first half and simply dominated the play," the coach continued.

"Vancleave came after the ball and hit well. That was a very physical football game for the Pirates' next contest, and bruises," Lumpkin explained.

"We hate to lose our first conference game like this, but we'll just have to regroup and go after the rest of them," the coach lamented.

Pass faces five more conference opponents this year.

Environmentalists disagree on Little Lake dredging

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

Environmental groups are divided over estuary damages which may result from a proposed plan to have the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers maintain a channel from the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway through the Rigolets and Little Lake in Louisiana to Port Bienville Industrial Park in Hancock County.

Environmental groups, residents and a state representative, all from Louisiana, at a public hearing here Thursday night opposed the Hancock County-supported channel plan.

The channel originally dredged by the corps more than 15 years ago for National Space Technology Laboratories would be dredged to 12 feet by 150 feet and be maintained permanently by the corps.

If the project is approved, maintenance dredging of the channel would improve navigation to and from the Hancock County industrial park and would strengthen that county's economy.

Some 80 persons attended the hearing sponsored by the corps at the Coast Electric Power Association Auditorium in Bay St. Louis.

Protesting the Little Lake route from Port Bienville to the Gulf were representatives from the Louisiana Fish and Wildlife Service; New Orleans Audubon Society; Gulf Coast, St. Tammany Parish and National Sierra Clubs; Southern Mississippi Ecology Society; Louisiana State Representative Edward C. Scogin of District No. 78; and several Louisiana residents.

They suggested vessels take an alternate route which would require marine traffic to travel from the Intracoastal Waterway directly up the East Pearl River to Port Bienville Industrial Park.

Scogin's along with the environmentalists and residents alleged the maintenance dredging would be harmful to fish and wildlife in the proposed dredging area.

Both Scogin's and environmentalists charged, "Turbidities (muddy) and-or salinity regimen changes at Little Lake would destroy or impair functions of the seagrass beds and thereby result in significant losses of fish and wildlife."

"Since there is an existing channel at the East Pearl River it should be used," they insisted.

Industries located at the Port Bienville Industrial Park are in direct competition with industries in Louisiana and that is the basis for Scogin's objections, countered Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission Director Wilson Wehre.

The Port Bienville Industrial Park is managed by the commission.

A biologist representing the corps said the grass beds would be "out of the way" of the actual dredging.

A letter from the Environmental Protection Agency states, "the Little Lake plan which will use upland diked disposal areas calls for less annual maintenance dredging (compared to the East Pearl River route), and has the best cost-benefit ratio and is preferred from an environmental standpoint."

The corps, which reports to have made its decision based on the national economy, environmental impact, regional development and social well being, also supports the Little Lake route.

Marine Concrete Structures, Borg Warner and a field representative for Mississippi Fifth District Rep. Trent Lott in addition to some Mississippi businessmen supported the Little Lake route.

In a plea to the opponents of the Little Lake proposal, Wehre said, "The Port and Harbor Commission is not anti-ecology, we have had orderly development of our industrial park and kept it in a confined area."

"We are the finest bunch of port developers in the country. Yes, we have ecological problems—archaeological problems, too. But we don't run away from them, we run right at them," he continued.

"We have no intentions to destroy wetlands," he added.

"We want to provide job opportunities for our youth. We want to see our young people come back home and have a future here," Wehre exhorted.

Wehre claimed some Louisiana interests have been a "cancer" exploiting Mississippians by creating subdivisions such as Shoreline Park.

"You have the moral obligation to re-examine your conscience," he told the person's from Louisiana.

"Five years have gone by to bring about this worthwhile project," he emphasized.

The director noted Hancock County could not financially support the East Pearl River route alternative.

The corps' cost for the Little Lake project will be $1.1 million with Hancock's expense being $95,000 in in-kind services.

Alternate routes, including an entrance to and from Port Bienville via the East Pearl River, have been considered by the corps, but they find the Little Lake channel route more feasible, Wehre pointed out.

"The problem with the East Pearl routes is that Louisville and Nashville Railroad's bridge has a horizontal clearance of 87 feet," Wehre explains.

The Little Lake route, in contrast, involves the railroad's Rigolets bridge which has a horizontal clearance of 153 feet," Wehre continues.

The director adds that failure to dredge the Little Lake route will limit the access to and from the industrial complex.

In assessing the potential dangers of the Little Lake route, a representative from the national Sierra Club said a Borg-Warner plant which is expected to be constructed at Port Bienville in the near future will be dependent upon large barge shipments of chemicals that will be transported through the Little Lake route and he fears a potential chemical spill.

Stone County's Daniel Harris, No. 40, breaks tackles on his way to paydirt Friday night. Tigers in pursuit include No. 22, Dennis Rhodes, No. 51, Huewitt Parsons and No. 41, Bruce Cain.

Bay Quarterback Chuck Benigno sweeps around right side of the line for Tigers' first score against Stone County.

Bay Council accepts offers on emergency utility repairs

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A special meeting was held by the Bay St. Louis Council to evaluate a report by the City Clerk on bids taken under advisement Tuesday night for the use of equipment and labor for the various emergency repairs to the city's utilities.

The three firms bidding were Coast Heavy Equipment, Shaw Supply and Crown Equipment Company.

Kelly McQueen, city clerk tabulated the bids and reported that not all contractors had submitted bids on the same items and the council voted to accept all the bids and use whatever is the lowest on the various services. The services are for six months and are for the use of equipment and labor.

In other business, council accepted the withdrawal of a proposal for the removal of the sidewalk on the corner of Broadway and Canal from the firm of Broadway and Canal.

The council and Canal two withdrew a proposal for the removal of the sidewalk on the corner of Broadway and Canal from the firm of Broadway and Canal.

Donn Murray, a resident inspector for Broadway and Seal had made a proposal last week to the council on the sidewalk removal but Councilman Fred Wagner felt the proposal did not give enough details. Wagner said at the Thursday meeting there was a misunderstanding on the matter and he felt the drawings were "vague" in his opinion.

Council voted unanimously in requesting a proposal from Jimmy Chinche, Bay St. Louis civil engineer, on both the sidewalk project in addition to the drainage problem on Spanish Acres which was amended to include Dunbar, Boardman, and other streets and Belmont.

Wagner explained to Chinche that a detailed drawing would be needed to show the sidewalk removal and the drainage problem. Chinche said he would submit a detailed drawing to the council.

Mayor Bennett resurfaced the drainage problem at St. George and Necaise and reported to the council that there were some culverts at a reasonable price available to re-route the ditch from the property under a fence as it now runs.

Councilman Fred Wagner recommended the hiring of Donn Murray to oversee the project, and was approved by Councilmen James Thrifflay and Pete Benvenuti.

Mayor Bennett resurfaced the drainage problem at St. George and Necaise and reported to the council that there were some culverts at a reasonable price available to re-route the ditch from the property under a fence as it now runs.

A price of $500 was submitted on a proposal by Chinche to review the drainage problem at the intersection of Broadway and Seal.

Council action forsees next-day's emergency

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Bay St. Louis Council held an emergency meeting Thursday night and accepted bids for the use of labor and equipment for emergency repairs of the sewer and water system.

Friday morning at about 4 a.m., a water main blew out at the corner of Necaise and State Streets.

Bill Johnson, Bay St. Louis superintendent of utilities, said Friday morning, "This is a bad break because of the closeness of the sewer, water, gas, drainage and main cable line of the telephone company all in one little spot."

The main water line break caused the entire water system to drain down completely, according to Johnson.

They had to isolate the section of water line broken from the system in order for the pressures to rebuild.

The two water tanks completely drained, according to Johnson.

Crown Construction Company made the repairs with help from city crewmen from all sections, according to Mayor Larry Bennett.

Donn Murray was inspector for the restoration.

A six-inch water main had ruptured, a sewer line broke, an underground drainage ditch broke in addition to two parts of a telephone conduit.

Johnson said the water line which broke was flushed by the fire department and it was chlorinated and Alton Sick took a sample of the water to have it checked to make sure it was safe before hooking it up with the City lines. "After we get a safe checking we will flush the line out again for extra safety precautions," Johnson said.

The majority of the repairs were complete at 1 p.m. The only item not repaired was the telephone conduit and the local repairman said he was waiting for a specialized person from Poyune to make the repairs. Charlie Black, state superintendent for the City, said he let the area set up again before he restored the drainage culverts.

Reportedly, the drainage culverts were undermined by a sewer break which caused them to drop on the water line and cause it to break and cause the serious water problems.

Mayor Bennett was pleased with the manner in which everyone pitched in getting the job done.

Federal judge blocks La. shrimping fee

A new Louisiana law requiring out-of-state shrimpers to pay a $1,000 license fee to fish Louisiana waters has been blocked by a federal judge.

The law, which was to go into effect today, was challenged as unconstitutional by a group of seafood dealers, merchants and non-resident shrimpers.

U.S. District Judge Jack M. Gordon issued a temporary restraining order Thursday prohibiting the enforcement of the law, passed by the recent Legislature.

A hearing was set for 9 a.m. Sept. The law required, non-resident shrimpers to buy a $1,000 license and made it illegal for a resident wholesaler to purchase shrimp from a non-resident shrimper without a license.

Nine of those who filed the suit are either seafood dealers, who say they depend on shrimp from non-residents, or Louisiana residents who sell marine equipment to out-of-state commercial fishermen.

Another plaintiff is T. Olin Wellborn, a seafood wholesaler.

In addition, the state of Florida has filed suit against the law.

Trio arrested in drug raid

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Three persons were arrested late Monday night in a drug raid on a property owned by the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

Arrested were Harold G. Gills and his wife Catherine Gills, address 1112 N. R. 2, Box 77, Bay St. Louis, and one-year-old juvenile.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY WEATHER & CROP REPORT

Plan No. SL 254

Maximum utilization of space and a future playroom are features of this attractive split level.

A fireplace in the living room "welcomes" guests. The dining area has a sliding glass door to the patio, and the kitchen—compact with all built-in appliances—is easily accessible to the carport.

The upper level has three bedrooms and two baths. The master bedroom has two large closets and a private bath with large vanity. The second bath, located off the hallway, is convenient to the other bedrooms.

Abundant storage and utility space is located at the front of the lower level, with a future playroom planned for the back section. The exterior is rustic design, showing siding on the upper levels and brick on the lower levels.

Design number SL 254, the home contains 1,267 square feet on the mid and upper levels; 258 square feet of storage and utility; 333 square feet for the future playroom, and 240 square feet in the carport.

Complete blueprints are available from E. A. Myers, residential designer, 1400 Scott Boulevard, Decatur, Georgia 30030. This plan appears in the sixth edition of the company's plan book.

HOUSE PLAN

WEATHER SUMMARY (National Weather Service):

Near normal temperatures were the rule across the state during the period.

The highest reading was 98 at Yazoo City on August 31st, while the lowest was 62 at Kosciusko on the 27th. The greatest 24 hour rainfall total was 1.87 inches at Columbus on the 28th and also at Forest on the 28th.

Most locations received measurable rainfall on an average of three days during the period. Scattered thunderstorms continued over Mississippi through the weekend. Some spots received up to 2 inches, but most locations recorded an inch or less.

CROP SUMMARY: Harvesting of hay and silage continued active. Insect levels in cotton and soybeans increased and many cotton producers were applying insecticides. Some soybean fields were also being sprayed for insect control. Rice harvest was getting underway.

Soil moisture supplies were generally adequate. An average of 4.7 days was suitable for fieldwork compared to 4.6 days last week and 4.5 days for the same week last year.

Ninety-one percent of the soybean acreage was podding compared to 92 percent last year and 84 percent average.

About 11 percent was turning color compared to 22 percent last year and one percent was shedding compared to four percent last year and six percent average. The crop was in good condition.

About four percent of the cotton acreage had open bolls, well behind last year's 57 percent and the average of 27 percent. Cotton condition was rated good to fair.

The rice acreage was 93 percent headed compared to 96 percent last year and 90 percent average. About 24 percent of the acreage was mature compared to 30 percent last year and about four percent was harvested compared to seven percent last year and five percent average. The crop was in good condition.

Sixty percent of the corn acreage was mature compared to 52 percent last year and 11 percent was harvested compared to 17 percent last year and 12 percent average.

The crop was in good condition. About 80 percent of the corn acreage intended for silage was harvested compared to 86 percent last year.

The sorghum acreage was 42 percent ripe compared to 85 percent last year. About 11 percent of the acreage intended for grain was harvested compared to 20 percent for both last year and the average.

Sorghum for silage was 60 percent harvested compared to 87 percent last year.

Hay crops were 78 percent harvested compared to 80 percent last year and 74 percent average.

Sweetpotatoes were 15 percent harvested compared to 29 percent last year and 26 percent average.

Peanuts were 14 percent harvested compared to last year's 25 percent and the average of 31 percent.

Pecan condition was rated fair to poor.

Pastures were in good condition.

Diesel and gasoline supplies were rated adequate to tight. L.P. Gas supplies were rated adequate.

COUNTY COMMENTS:
TALLAHATCHIE CO.

"Bollworm and bollweevil activity picked up necessitating many farmers to poison cotton for first time this season. Older cotton opening on bottom of plants—we need to 'mature-out' of young fruit."

PRENTISS CO. "Crop situation looking much better after a late, wet planting season."

YAZOO CO. "Last week's thunderstorms were welcomed by most producers. Insecticide applications increased over the weekend for worm control."

CARROLL CO.

"Bollworm eggs present in greenest cotton. Green-clover worm in soybeans building where showers have missed."

KEOKUK CO. "Crop insects light. Spotted showery. Some areas need rain."

ADAMS CO. "Rains often but scattered! Some areas in good shape; others need rain. It's been a good year for hay!"

Do You Value Your Trees And Shrubs?

By Dexter D. MacBride, ASA
Executive Vice President
American Society of Appraisers

Your trees, shrubs and other landscape plants are a valuable investment — an investment that grows. They contribute to the value of your property. As a homeowner you may not realize that, if these "items" are damaged or destroyed through a casualty event, you may be eligible to collect a casualty loss from an insurance company or deduct the loss from your federal income taxes.

Generally, the damage must have been caused by an identifiable event of sudden, unexpected or unusual nature.

For the purposes of tax claims this can include mishaps that might come with wind or ice storms, lightning or floods, accidents such as a car running into a tree, or a wide range of other occurrences.

Most insurance policies, however, are somewhat more restrictive, and contain a provision that the company will be liable for loss to trees, shrubs, plants and lawns when loss is caused by fire, lightning, explosion, riot, civil commotion, malicious mischief, theft, aircraft, or vehicle not operated by an occupant of the premises.

In other words, if your trees or landscape plants suffer a casualty, avenues that may be open to you for the recovery of their financial worth are: Insurance Coverage, Income Tax Deduction, or Civil Damage Claim.

What are the steps you should take for recovery if you sustain such a loss?

1. An important step is to take pictures of your landscape plantings, now, while they are healthy.

2. Then, if a casualty occurs, take others immediately following the damage. These "before and after" photographs will be important evidence of the loss.

3. Consult your insurance policy to determine the amount and kind of coverage it provides. If you are still not sure whether or not your specific damage is included, contact your insurance agency or representative.

4. If the casualty is covered by insurance, have your agent arrange for an appraisal to be made by a competent tree or landscape professional.

5. If the casualty loss is not covered by your homeowners' insurance, or the amount of the loss is greater than the maximum provided in your policy, U.S. Treasury regulations permit a tax deduction for non-business casualty losses to landscape trees and shrubs.

6. When the casualty results from action by an outside party, compensation is often available from the responsible individual, corporation or governmental agency. Legal counsel may be needed, and a competent appraisal by a professional tree or landscape consultant will be critical to establish the full extent of the loss.

State Health Board issues hazard warning

Taking safety steps to install insulation in homes can mean the difference between a product that is safe and effective and one that might be a health hazard.

Improper installation of urea formaldehyde foam insulation may cause the release of formaldehyde gas into living areas and the development of adverse health effects, warn the Mississippi State Board of Health and the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

Continued exposure to formaldehyde gas can cause nausea and vomiting, respiratory difficulties, headaches, eye irritation, and allergies, according to the health and consumer experts. The symptoms may develop a few days after installation.

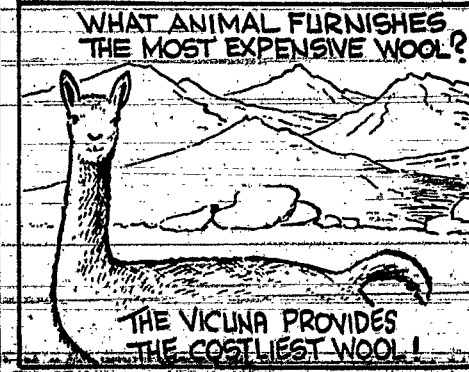

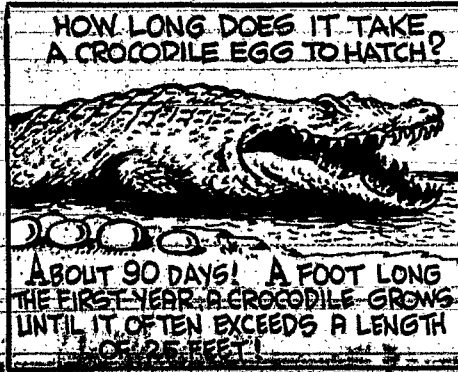

the gas is released.

Proper installation of urea formaldehyde foam insulation requires — at a minimum — conscientious workmanship, the use of appropriate chemicals, and the use of machinery in good repair.

To reduce the chances of potentially hazardous installation, consumers should ask the insulation contractor if the installer has had factory training in correct application procedures, ask to see written verification of such instruction, and insist on a written statement which explains what action the insulation company will take if health problems arise from the product.

Baptist Convention's 1980 budget tops $11.2 million

The Mississippi Baptist Convention Board has set a budget goal of $11,247,000 for 1980.

This is the amount expected as income for the cooperative work of the nearly 2,000 churches affiliated with the Mississippi Baptist Convention. Messengers will vote on this budget in November when they meet in Jackson for their annual Mississippi

Baptist Convention. Nearly one third, or 33 percent of the income from the churches will go to Southern Baptist causes outside the state, the rest will go for such work as the four Baptist colleges, the missions and education work of the Mississippi Baptist Convention Board, and the various agencies and institutions of the Mississippi Baptist Convention. The 1980 budget is a 12.4 increase over 1979, which is $10 million. At the time the budget for 1980 was developed, 1979 mission gifts were 13.8 percent above the budget figure for 1979.

Earl Kelly, executive secretary-treasurer of the Mississippi Baptist Convention Board, reported that the largest single figure in the 1980 budget, besides Southern Baptist causes outside Mississippi, will be for Christian education, which will receive 19.56 percent of the budget. That amounts to $2,200,000. In addition, capital needs for Christian education are budgeted at $300,000.

Mississippi Baptists operate William Carey College, Clarke College, Mississippi College, and Blue Mountain College.

Pulpit Points

THERE CAN BE NO QUESTION about the fact we are living in an age of intellectualism. Most of us have been farther and seen more by the time we were twelve years old than did our forefathers in a lifetime.

Too many of us know much about many things, but too often find ourselves satisfied in our ignorance of some of the most basic and essential things.

To know God through the Christ in ourselves is essentially more important than any other possible experience of our existence.

Though a man have nothing, but has enlivened his Christ spirit, he is rich.

On the other hand, if a man have all this world's goods, and does not have Christ, he is poverty stricken.

A Rhodes scholar or a redneck from Hootin' Hollow, neither amounts to much if he misses the salvation and security God has provided for us through Jesus Christ.

It seems the wisdom of this world has never been able to wisely and properly order its priorities. Someone has suggested Amos as a man who knew what was most important, and couldn't care less what the world thought about it.

The prophet Amos was not a world traveler. He was not a Ph.D. (Someone said that meant "post-hole digger.") It probably never would have made the local newspapers about what seminary he graduated from.

He had little political influence. He was not in good standing with the powers-that-be. He was not the local fellow-well-met about the town. He was probably a joke to the Bethel Intellectuals.

He was utterly devoid of the qualifications for success in the courts of the capital, either civil or religious. It is very doubtful that he would have fit in with the charismatics and the eccumenicalist of his time, or ours.

But he had one thing going for him that all the clique of Jeroboam II were strangers to - in his humble life among his sheep and sycamores he had heard from God, and was happy in the heavenly reality of it. He had a hot line to Headquarters - and orders from the Main office.

Dr. Amosiah and all the polished gentlemen of the courts may have had the ear of the King, but they were not in tune with the Realm Above.

Amos, like John the Baptist from the wilderness, like Paul from Arabia, and others who knew the meaning and joy of walking with God, not only knew where he stood, but also where he was going.

Listen to the simple and forthright appeal of the apostle Paul to his own people who were well-versed in the letter of the law, but were ignorant of its real purpose, meaning and application:

"Brethren, my heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saved. For I bear them record that they have a zeal of God, but not according to knowledge. For they being ignorant of God's righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God. For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth." (Rom. 10:1-4).

by Norman Vincent Pease and Ruth Stafford Pease

There's an Answer!

Q. After years of prayer and counseling - I found that divorce was the only answer. My husband was an alcoholic. Now I can't seem to cope with raising the children and the hell on earth I had all those years. I pray a lot and the only answer I get is the thought of death as being with God and no more pain or sorrow. If my children were an age to raise themselves there would be no doubt in my mind what I would do. Tell me what to do.

A. It is so evident what you should do. Stop that black and dismal negative thinking.

Forget that "hell on earth" you had all those years, for that is over now. And you can cope if you make up your mind to do so. You say you pray. Well, start praying a prayer of faith. Believe in your own prayers, that they will bring you strength. Perhaps your prayers consist of a lot of negative statements you make to God. Start filling your prayers with positive statements. You can handle your life and have a wonderful, happy time with your children. Don't make negative thinkers out of them.

We are sending you our booklet, try Prayer Power, which may help you. Anyone wishing a free copy may write to us at Box 500, Pawling, N.Y. 12564.

Living Together Q. I would like to ask what you think of these people who are living together rather than getting married. I have a 20-year-old daughter who is thinking of living with the guy first to see if they're really suited for each other before they make wedding plans. I am very much against it and would appreciate your comments.

A. My opinion is that it is a very great mistake. And, despite the so-called new morality point of view, which is supposed to be "in," I, for one, call it sin. I'm quite prepared to be written off by the super-duper sophisticates as old-fashioned, or whatever. But the fact that living together without marriage is so general as to constitute a style not, in any sense, make it right.

FOUR-FOOT CLAMS

The largest clams in the world live in the Indo-Pacific Ocean, from India to East Africa, and can grow to be four-and-a-half feet long, says the National Wildlife Federation.

By S. Grady Thigpen

Grandpa Spiers trekked 14 miles one hot day—completely naked

Ellis V. Spiers of Piquette, now deceased, liked to tell of the time he and his grandpa had to walk 14 miles completely naked, on a hot summer day in about 1900.

Until 1906, all of the land end of what is now Pearl River County was part of Hancock County. The people of this area had to go the long distance - 30 to 40 miles - to Bay St. Louis to pay taxes, attend court and after other public business.

Ellis told of how his grandpa would get a summons to serve on the jury and would have to leave home early on Sunday morning to reach Bay St. Louis in time for court on Monday morning.

There was no direct rail connection between Bay St. Louis and Piquette. Grandpa Spiers and his family would have to travel by horseback, and the wagon was a real problem.

Packed School Lunches Can Be Tasty, Attractive

MISSISSIPPI STATE — If your child prefers to carry lunch to school, you can make your job a little easier, says Ann O. Rushing, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service marketing specialist.

Since a hot school lunch is planned to provide one-third of the child's daily food needs, a packed school lunch should also do the same. Include foods from each of the four groups — protein, a vegetable and/or fruit, bread and milk or milk product.

Choose those with the most attractive prices within each group, she adds.

Make sandwiches in a variety of sizes. Smaller sandwiches are more appealing to children. Use a thermos or a cooler to keep the lunch cool. These well include cooked egg yolk (not the white), peanut butter, cooked or canned poultry, fish or meat, dried beef, baked beans, canned crushed pineapple, lemon or orange juice, margarine, dairy sour cream and milk. Don't hold frozen sandwiches more than two weeks, she cautions.

To keep sandwiches from getting soggy, spread softened margarine, peanut butter or moistened cream — cheese evenly to the edge of each bread slice.

Wrap lettuce, tomato slices, pickles or other juicy items in moisture-vapor proof materials. They can be added to the sandwich just before eating.

Cut sandwiches in halves, thirds or quarters for easier eating. Smaller sandwiches are more appealing to children. Use a thermos or a cooler to keep the lunch cool.

These menu suggestions may give you ideas for go-togethers that make good lunches: peanut butter and banana sandwiches, hot chicken-noodle soup in a thermos, pickles, fresh peas and milk; deviled ham and pineapple sandwich with lettuce, celery and carrot sticks, shoe string potatoes, oatmeal/raisin cookies and milk; and fish salad sandwich, raw vegetable strips, fruit bar cookie, apple and milk.

Cotton growers experience insects

FARMS NEWS AND VIEWS
By MIKE WINDHAM
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

"We've got off to a bad start in cotton production this year. Many problems were caused primarily by weather conditions. We planted the crop later than we would have liked. Now we've got a spotty situation in the state, similar to what we've had in the past three or four years."

Those are the words of Extension Cotton Specialist Dr. George Mullendore.

Dr. Mullendore says the weather isn't all to blame. There have been unusual amounts of insect problems this summer—especially plant bug pressures. He says plant bug control isn't as exact as it should be. The cotton crop, in his opinion, is at least two or three weeks later than desired.

"We've got some crops on schedule—some that will make 2.5 bales per acre. Yet on neighboring farms and fields, producers will be lucky to get on bale per acre," the state cotton specialist reports. Dr. Mullendore says these fields experienced the same weather. He feels the difference in yields is caused by insect management.

Everything that cotton requires in its growth cycle peaks in July, according to researchers at the Delta Branch Experiment Station in Stoneville. After July, the crop is over the major obstacles.

After July, it takes longer for each cotton boll to mature. Since most cotton in the state is two weeks late, it's going to take more than the normal length of time for this season's cotton to mature.

Dr. Mullendore says above average temperatures during the next few weeks would help. He also says producers should do a "super" job of controlling insects through harvest.

Another word of warning from the Extension agronomist is about defoliation. He says, "Don't defoliate too early. Defoliate according to plant development."

"The main thing is to look at the individual crop, know its maturity date, know where you are and don't defoliate until 80 percent of the crop you expect to pick is open," he adds.

Good Nutrition

BY Robert E. Landers, Ph.D.

Satiety-What Is It?

Q. Why is it that some meals that seem satisfying at the time leave me hungry soon after eating, while others satisfy my hunger for much longer periods?

A. The feeling of having enough to eat and of not wanting more soon after eating is what nutritionists call satiety (say-TIE-in-tee) value. The reason some meals are satisfying while others satisfy for only an hour or so has much to do with total caloric content and the balance of nutrients in the meal. Any eating plan should include foods that provide all three major nutrients—protein, fat and carbohydrate. Here are the reasons why.

Carbohydrates include desserts and starchy foods and also (although we tend to forget it) fruits and vegetables. Many of these foods provide, along with energy (calories) and dietary fiber, a variety of minerals and vitamins. Because these foods (especially sugars) are assimilated by the body in a short time, they help satisfy our immediate hunger. An example of this is the way carbohydrates eaten before a meal can destroy one's appetite for the meal itself.

Protein foods include animal proteins like meat, poultry, seafood, milk and cheese, and vegetable proteins like dry peas and beans and peanut butter. When these foods are eaten, the body breaks down the protein into the amino acid units which are used in building and repairing body tissues. Protein foods are digested somewhat more slowly than carbohydrates.

Fats include vegetable oils used in cooking and in making salad dressings, margarine and mayonnaise; and animal fat in meat, poultry, fish, cheese and butter. Some people, in an effort to cut calories, try to eliminate many fats and oils from the diet. And here's where they run into trouble with satiety.

Fats are the last type of food to leave the stomach. Hence, a meal containing fat will "stay with you" longer. Satiety, however, is just one of the reasons we need to include some fat in each meal. Fats high in polyunsaturates, such as Mazola corn oil, contain essential fatty acids which are vital to health. Fats also aid in the absorption of fat-soluble vitamins A, D, E and K. Stored fats provide energy and insulation and help to maintain the body's temperature.

So for all-around good nutrition, eat foods providing all three of the major nutrients. You'll find healthy eating more satisfying and enjoyable if you do.

Dr. Robert E. Landers succeeds Dr. Dorothy M. Rathmann as Director of Nutrition for Best Foods, a position of national prominence. Dr. Landers, who is also Editor of the Food Nutrition column in Dr. Landers' 12 years experience in the food industry, holds a Ph.D. in nutrition from the University of Massachusetts and a Ph.D. in nutrition from the University of Wisconsin.

ORDINANCE NO. 247 AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS AMENDING A PORTION OF ORDINANCE NO. 228

WHEREAS, the City of Bay St. Louis on May 4, 1976, adopted Ordinance No. 228, entitled "The Zoning Ordinance of the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi," and

WHEREAS, the said Mayor and City Council deem it necessary to amend the said zoning ordinance to further clarify the City's position in dealing with rezoning and time for construction and/or use permitted in said rezoned area, now therefore,

BE IT ORDAINED by the Mayor and City Council of the City of Bay St. Louis, that Ordinance No. 228 be and is hereby amended to provide as follows:

"That where the Planning and Zoning Commission has received a parcel of land upon petition for the purpose of building or carrying on a business in an area within this rezoning, which would be non-conforming to the zoning regulations in the surrounding area, that they will have six months in which to begin construction or operation, or the land will revert to the original zoning. That should the parties find themselves unable to begin construction or to occupy said land or buildings for the specific purposes in the petition for rezoning within the six months period, they may petition the Planning and Zoning Board for an additional six months period, but under no circumstances shall the total period of time be more than one year."

All Ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict with this ordinance are hereby repealed.

This ordinance shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after date hereof.

After being reduced to writing, the foregoing ordinance was read and considered, section by section and then as a whole, at a public meeting of the Council of the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, whereupon Councilman Farve moved its adoption and after second by Councilman Wagner the following roll call vote was had:

Voting yeas: Councilmen Peter J. Benvenuti, Harry J. Farve, James C. Thriftley, III, Wilmer E. Seymour and Fred Wagner.

Voting nays: None.

Whereupon President Benvenuti declared the foregoing ordinance passed unanimously by the Council of the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, this 4th day of September, 1979.
